Early parthenocarpic “Dutch” type cucumber variety. The plant has good vigor, a short inter nodus and a dark, well-opened leaf. It is also very rustic and resistant to low temperatures and thermal excursion.

The fruit is very elegant and dark green in color and smooth with medium ribs. The shape is regular in all stages and in all cultivation periods. Productivity is maximum thanks to the regularity of fruiting and the high specific weight of the fruits which reach an average length of 30 cm.

Quality, productivity, and resistance at the highest levels on the market.
